

WALKING CURRICULUM

The walking curriculum focusses on walking activities which essentially change the learning context for students. Place-based educational activities that involve subject content along with imagination and inquiry are being used worldwide by educators to engage students in powerful learning.

I have designed a few UAE walking curriculum programs. These come with activity sheets and resources. They can be used by an educator in any park, mountainous, wadi, desert area, around the schools and the towns in the UAE.

Cross-Curricular ideas -storytelling, moral education, math, sciences, business education can also be included in these activities to enhance the learning process. As an educator, the walking curriculum program gives you opportunities to develop the collaboration and communication skills of your students. The teacher resources provide learning ideas and some activities. It is for you as educators to build on the ideas, using your creativity to extend the learning involved, based on your location and the time available. Choose activities to suit the needs of your learners. Most children love to be in the outdoors and many of you as educators may have had wonderful learning experiences with your students outside the classroom.

So let's all walk to observe, inquire, imagine, investigate, explore and discover nature!!!!
